

WAR! What Is It All About?

HAS the whole world gone stark mad over a very foolish and trivial question? Are swords rattling, cannon rumbling, mailed armor glistening just because Russia wanted to show her love for the little brother—Serbia? Tear aside the curtain of Europe's politics and see the grim and sinister game of chess that is being played. See upon what a slim, yet desperate, excuse the sacred lives of millions are being sacrificed. Read the history of the past one hundred years, as written by some of the greatest authorities the world has ever known, and learn the naked, shameful truth. Just to get you started as a Review of Reviews subscriber, we make you this extraordinary offer. We will give to you

FREE—"Europe at War"

A big book and over 300 pages, size 10 x 7 inches, handsomely and durably bound in cloth, containing the dramatic history of the great events leading up to the present time; over 50 important and timely special articles by experts on the different phases of the conflict; hundreds of graphic pictures, portraits, photographs, diagrams, special drawn war maps, illuminating statistical records, copies of official documents and diplomatic messages exchanged between the powers—a clear, vivid, accurate, permanent, interesting and valuable record—a record which once seen you will not willingly be without. Europe's past and present are here dramatically pictured and presented. Hundreds of illustrations graphically tell their own stories. More fascinating than any romance, here is a history so vivid, so dramatic, so stirring, so fascinating, so realistic, so wonderfully presented, so thrillingly told that it leaves an ineffable impression.

Your War News Clarified

It is not enough to read the daily news reports. Your ability to comprehend conditions and to discuss them rationally depends on a true interpretation of the meaning and the "reason why" of events. In your mind you must bring order out of chaos and the Review of Reviews will do it for you.

Arguments to Show Which Is Better, the Horse or Tractor?

Farm and Fireside says in an article about tractors:

"The final test in buying a tractor, of course, is, 'Will horses or a tractor do my work best?' Here are the chief advantages of each in the light of the best experience on both sides.

"This is a list of points in favor of horses:

"They have stood the test for centuries of useful service.

"Their feed can be grown on the farm, and they help raise it.

"They are self producing and give about twenty years of service.

"Their manure is a valuable farm by-product.

"They are intelligent and in some work may be directed simply by word without need of rein, thus saving the services and expense of one man.

"They can go through water, mud, timber, and over rough and hilly places with comparative ease.

"Though normally developing less than one horsepower, a horse can in an emergency, and for a short time, exert three or four horsepower.

"Here are some points in favor of tractors: Tractors satisfy the demand for power to pull heavy machinery such as large gang plows, corn pickers, and road machinery. This work is too hard for horses.

"Tractors can do belt work such as running ensilage cutters, grinding mills, and other high-speed machinery. This work cannot very well be done by horses.

"Tractors need not be rested in hot weather, and are not 'soft' in the spring when they are needed most.

"Tractors are not affected by flies, bees and sickness which may entirely upset and delay a season's work.

"Tractors require no fenced pasture land, nor expensive barns, nor harness. They need but a simple shed for storage.

"Tractors require no care, and likewise cause no expense for upkeep when idle.

"Tractors enable the hay, grain, and other crops to be fed to cattle, sheep, and swine, thus increasing the profits of the farm.

"Tractors cost less than $100 per horsepower, whereas good horses average about $150 per horsepower."

Some Changes.

"You had your first patient today?" asked old Sawbones.

"Yes, Daddy," replied his son.

"What was the diagnosis?"

"Didn't make any."

"Didn't you feel of her pulse?"

"No; she wore a wrist watch, and I couldn't get at it."

"Didn't you look at her tongue?"

"No; she was using it."—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Mrs. Vest Felt Like Crying.

Wallace, Va. — Mrs. Mar Vest, of this place, says, "I hadn't been very well for three years, and at last was taken bad. I could not stand on my feet, I had such pains. I ached all over. I felt like crying all the time. Mother insisted on my trying Cardui. Now I feel well, and do nearly all my housework." No medicine for weak and ailing women, has been so successful as Cardui. It goes to the spot, relieving pain and distress, and building up womanly strength, in a way that will surely please you. Only try it once — Advertisement.

CHARACTER IN WOMEN'S HAIR

Golden and Red-Headed Ones Can Both Love and Hate Ardent, Says Writer.

Have you a head of midbrown tresses?

The majority of British girls are brown haired—the coloring is typical of our temperament, and shows a happy blending of our traits, a writer in London Answers observes.

The head generally rules the heart among women of this coloring, who are blessed with a good supply of "elbow grease" and common sense.

For vim and vivacity look to the curly-headed girl; her rippling locks are eloquent of vitality and energy more than any other kind of hair. This girl belongs to the "push and go" variety, and is not easily balked in her determination, and would never lose an opportunity of promotion through shyness or fear.

Next to her in energy comes the straight-haired, dark woman. She has not the vivacity of the woman with curls, but she has intensity, passion, and determination beyond other women, and is able to influence others.

Impulsive, warm-hearted, yet a trifle capricious is the woman possessing golden or red hair. She can both love and hate very ardently, but is not always sincere in either.

Very fair-haired damsels are apt to be rather colorless by nature as well as by coloring, but they make excellent business women, and are usually cool and collected in an emergency.

Refinement and gentleness is always indicated by fine hair; coarse, heavy hair generally denotes a strong constitution and an obstinate disposition.

Disqualified by Wisdom.

The lawyer was examining him concerning his qualifications as a juror. "Have you ever served on a jury?" he asked.

"No, sir," answered the man. "I've been drawn a good many times, but I was always too smart to get caught on a jury."

"What's that, sir?" interrupted the judge, sternly. "Do you boast of your smartness in escaping jury duty?" "No, your honor," said the man; "not at all. When I said I was too smart I meant that I was always excused because the lawyers thought I wasn't ignorant enough."—Exchange.
